Forecast for Thursday 24 Jun 2021

Weather: Generally overcast with periods of light rain or drizzle at first. Cloud will shroud peaks at times, although improving during the afternoon, with bright or sunny spells developing. The odd afternoon shower is also possible, and the odd rumble of thunder cannot be completely ruled out.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 20% through much of the morning. Improving to 80% during the afternoon, but falling again to 20% during the evening after dark.

Visibility: Best of the views through the afternoon with distant hills visible. Visibility will be limited during morning drizzle, during any heavier showers and will be very poor in low cloud. Hills above 400 metres are likely to be shrouded in the morning.

Meteorologist's View

Some fine weather likely, especially during the afternoon once early cloud and rain or drizzle lifts. Despite this cloudy start, there will be the chance of some brief but warm sunny spells later and appropriate protection recommended. The odd heavy afternoon shower could catch the unprepared out as well.

Forecast for Friday 25 Jun 2021

Weather: Overcast with occasional rain during the early hours and morning, perhaps locally heavy for a time, with low cloud covering the tops. Improving conditions are expected during the afternoon with cloud lifting and breaking, giving some good sunny spells, but also the chance of a few slow moving showers developing.

Maximum wind: Northwesterly 15 to 20 mph.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 20% at first, improving to 80% during the afternoon

Visibility: Some good views likely through the afternoon, but limited through the morning with some poor visibility expected during any heavier rain and also on shrouded tops. Cloud will be obscuring hills above 400m at first, but gradually breaking and lifting above tops during the morning.

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 11 Celsius rising to Plus 21 Celsius
At 600m: Plus 9 Celsius
Freezing level: Above the summits
